Description

THE OPPORTUNITY

As an Analyst, you will provide critical support to our North America consulting team through data analysis, reporting and presentations to your RMS team and our clients including 10 of the top global restaurant brands. You'll work directly with the Team Leader to provide your clients with data-based insights to build their businesses and drive profitability. Your day-to-day tasks will include data analysis and report generation, database management, client communication and distribution of powerful insight reports for our clients (comprised of 6 of the top 10 US fast food brands and 16 of the top 30 global restaurant brands).

This is a hybrid position coming into the office 3 days a week (Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday)

Who You'll Work With

You'll work in our Tampa office on our North America Consulting Services team, reporting to the Consultant. Working closely with the Consultant and Team Leader, you will manage, develop and publish data insights to inform our clients. You will support multiple client accounts and establish strong relationships with key client contacts. We take pride in encouraging each other's career ambitions and you'll find opportunities for personal development throughout our company.

What You'll Do

- Analyze, organize and present client data analysis reports
- Examine, correct, update and confirm the integrity of incoming data for report generation
- Analyze results to generate recommendations and user-friendly data analysis
- Establish and maintain excellent lines of communication with all levels of personnel internally and externally

- Story telling the results into profit driving strategies
